Our Literary Conquest in England.

A little book is to be published here on "First Editions of American Authors." From this one may fairly assume that the popularity of transatlantic writers in England is now considerable. Not very many years ago Longfellow, Poe, Emerson, Hawthorne, Lowell, Mark Twain, Artemus Ward and Josh Billings were almost all the American authors in whom the British public took any interest. How different is the situation now! American books swarm in our literary markets, and their authors, like so many Englishmen and women, have a reputation on both sides of the Atlantic. Every day the rapprochement between the two great literatures and the two great reading public grows closer and closer.—London Figaro.

Good Find of the Excavators.

Another valuable discovery has rewarded the excavators in Egypt. Recently they opened a pyramid of bricks at D. hour which contained the tomb of a relative of a king of the twelfth dynasty. One of the finest collections of Egyptian jewelry was within and included brooches, bracelets, plaques, charms and caskets, all of solid gold, ornamented with emeralds, amethysts, coral and turquoise and carabae. The bracelets were attached to two hawks with crowns on their heads. There were also lions, shells and other ornaments, all of exquisite workmanship. The royal chamber remains to be explored, and greater treasures are expected to appear.

Crowding the Hard Times.

Mrs. David Rosenberger, the wife of a farmer near Kittanning, Pa., has just given birth to five babies, three boys and two girls, all of whom are alive and well. "I thought," says the surprised father, "that we were coming to a time of astonishing pluralities when they began to count up the vote for Grow a few weeks ago. But, oh, my! I didn't look for anything like this—hard times and five babies at once!"—New York Tribune.

Children Cry for Pitzer's Castoria.

Spring Medicine.
 This is the time for spring medicine, and there is nothing better than green foods. Celery salad, celery soup, celery sandwiches and celery and salt for nerves, rheumatism and relish; lettuce, celery, escarol, oranges and grape fruit for the blood; water cresses for the voice, bath and lungs; radishes, onions, shallots and chives for the stomach, and butter, smoked meats, eggs, fish and oysters for good digestion. Pickles, olives, pastry and fresh meats are too heavy when a change of diet is in order. Soups are as real aperients, and egg beets, spinach and stewed cucumbers and tomatoes are remedial for a lot of digestive ailments. At least one of these.—New York World.

To Neutralize Offensiveness.

Impure breath, caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits or catarrh, is neutralized by SOZODONT. "It is a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentifrice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will no longer be noticed."

COURTS AND JUSTICE.

Judges of the United States Court are frequently appointed for partisan services rendered the party in power at the time of their appointment, not because of their ability and fitness for the judiciary. They are not amenable to the people as they hold office for life and too often have no more conception of justice than they have regard for public opinion. Two of these Judges—Dundy and Jenkins—recently issued injunctions restraining employees of railroads in the hands of receivers from associating, consulting or conferring together for the purpose of maintaining or increasing their wages. Fortunately an appeal to dissolve the injunction was heard by Judge Caldwell of the United States Circuit Court. Judge Caldwell, like Lincoln, sprang from the people and is endowed with common sense. He dissolved the enjoining order and decided that labor as well as capital has rights under the law, the one to associate and confer to increase wages and the other to limit the profits of investments. The justice of this decision cannot be disputed and its effect on members of labor organizations cannot result otherwise than beneficially, as the man who has to work for a living feels and acts better when he knows that his rights are respected by the courts.

Now the United States Court at Ogden, in the case of the Industrial Army, issued an order to the United States Marshal of Utah to return the army to the box cars in which the men were brought to Utah and not allow the men to remain in any place in Utah Territory. This order in effect was that the Marshal should take possession of a train, if the agent of the Southern Pacific Company at Ogden declined to furnish it, force men who were accused of no crime, on to the cars, run the train to the Nevada line and leave the army to perish on the desert.

Much has been said, and with good reason, too, in condemnation of the brutality of anarchists, yet never did socialists or anarchists issue a more inhuman or revolutionary decree than that of Judge Miner of the United States Court at Ogden. Though the Governor of the Territory and a few heartless and thoughtless officials rejoiced over the victory which they had achieved in the Court, public sentiment condemned it, and provided the pitiable and deluded army with clothing and rations before it left the city of Ogden on its march eastward. Attorney Royle declared in Court that never during his residence in a border State during the war had he seen such a flagrant violation of human rights as had been witnessed in Ogden for four or five days, when the Industrial Army was unlawfully detained by the territorial militia.

PACIFIC RAILROAD DEBTS.

Commissioner Hampton of the Pacific Railroads has submitted to the House memoranda on various bills introduced for the settlement of the debts due the United States from the several Pacific railroads. He is opposed to a foreclosure of the government liens on the roads as proposed by one of the bills. He favors the maintenance of a sinking fund, into which a certain proportion of the net earnings of the roads shall be paid.

As the first installment of the bonds issued by the United States in aid of the construction of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railroads become due next January, and, unlike other government bonds, which are redeemable after maturity at the option of the government, the railroad bonds are payable at maturity. The present Congress will therefore have to deal with the question, and make provision for the redemption of the bonds. It is probable that a bill will be reported from the Committee on Railroads at the present session, and it is possible that within a year the United States may be owning and running a railroad from Ogden to Omaha.

A SILLY GOLDBUG.

"Every honest, intelligent man, and the majority of them are Republicans, realizes that the Populists are a dead duck."

This elegantly constructed sentence and convincing argument is the last in a leading editorial, of which it is a fair sample, in the Virginia City Enterprise. It appears that the Enterprise, judging it by its own standard, cannot be honest and intelligent, as it does not realize that "the Populists are a dead duck" or it would not be continually, as it is, warning its readers that the "dead duck" is very dangerous. It is to be hoped, for the credit of the Comstock, that the Enterprise will henceforth, now that it declares that "the Populist are a dead duck" turn its attention to things that have life in them.

THE COAL PRODUCT.

W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, has compiled statistics in the production of coal in the United States. The report shows that for the year 1893 the product was 179,325,000 short tons valued at $205,250,000. Of this California produced 72,600 tons, valued at $167,500; Montana, 91,400 tons, valued at $181,600; Oregon, 41,700 tons, valued at $164,500; Utah, 413,200 tons, valued at $611,000; Washington, 1,265,000 tons, valued at $2,209,300; Wyoming, 2,339,800 tons, valued at $3,291,000.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

Senator Mitchell Speaks Against the Wilson Bill.

OPPOSED TO FORECLOSURE.

Bland to Call a Meeting of the House Committee on Coinage.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon Scores the Wilson Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Senator Mitchell of Oregon, spoke against the Wilson bill to-day. He declared that the passage of the bill would be legislative recognition of a most dangerous economy and constitutional heresy. In 1886 the Democrats elected Buchanan on that policy and almost bankrupted the Treasury. The national credit was badly shaken, and in 1890 they were hurled from power. The same result will follow in 1896 if this bill be passed. The Union had been brought about because of the varying tariffs of different States. The constitutionality of protection was not attacked till 1892. He condemned the ad valorem system, and discussed wool at length, pronouncing the schedules arbitrary and unjust because it protected the manufacturer and not the producer and favors foreigners. The placing of wool on the free list was a most visionary fallacy. Clothing was cheaper than before the passage of the McKinley bill.

Barley, hops, plums and prunes also received attention. Agricultural products, he said, fell under the blighting influence of the Wilson bill, and quoted a speech of Voorhees, delivered in 1881, proving him to once have been a protectionist. The bill was based on definite policy. Customs taxation was sectional, un-American, un-Democratic and un-Republican.

HOUSE.

The Democratic members of the House do not hope for a quorum until Tuesday, but are counting upon the adoption then of the pending rule fining members who do not respond to roll calls. The Republicans refused to vote on the approval of the journal and raised a question of no quorum. The Democrats lacked 26 of a quorum.

The House adjourned at noon, the Democrats cheering the announcement of a Democratic caucus to consider rules.

At the caucus of Democrats it was decided to enforce the revised statutes, which provides for the docking of members for the number of days they are absent.

PACIFIC RAILROADS.

Gen. Wade Hampton Opposes a Foreclosure of the Liens.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—General Wade Hampton, the Commissioner of Railroads, has submitted to the House Committee having supervision of the matter sundry memoranda on the various pending bills for a settlement of the debt of the Pacific Railroads to the United States. From this memoranda it appears that the Commissioner is opposed to the foreclosure of the lien on the roads, and the management thereof by Congress, but is favorably disposed to the maintenance of the sinking fund and the payment into it of a larger proportion of net earnings. Discussing the question of foreclosure, he says:

"A foreclosure of the lien, it is admitted, will not satisfy the debt, as a sale of the subsidized roads under the decree of the Court would not realize more than enough to cancel the amount of the first mortgage bonds, in which case the United States would be required to lose the claim or buy in the liens and pay off the first mortgage indebtedness. Railway management by Congress, besides being opposed to settled policy would not only be a doubtful, but a dangerous experiment. This alternative therefore should be rejected."

Under the second form of settlement he says the sinking fund may be maintained and a larger proportion of net earnings be required to be paid into it, so not only current interest may be met, but the principal of the bonds gradually diminished. This proposition he says has already been recommended for adoption in the form of a proposed bill, which was submitted to the Secretary of the Interior for transmission to the committee.

"Willie" Wild Wedded.

LONDON, April 12.—It became known to-day that "Willie" Wilde, formerly the husband of Mrs. Frank Leslie of New York, was married a few days ago to Miss Sophia Lees by special license in this city. The bride is described as young, beautiful, rich and of Irish parentage. She is a granddaughter of Thomas Orde Lees of Merriion, near Dublin.

Free Coinage of Silver.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—It is the intention of Chairman Bland to call a meeting of the House Committee on Coinage for Wednesday next to consider the free coinage bills referred. He considers the members now absent will be here by that time.

FREE COINAGE BILLS.

Chairman Bland of the Committee on Coinage, intends to have the committee consider the free coinage bills introduced in the House and referred to the Committee next week. One of the bills will be reported favorably to the House and its passage will be urged by Bland and others. The silver men are determined if they can possibly do so, to get an absolute free coinage bill through Congress before it adjourns. They want to give the President opportunity to sign or veto such a bill. If he should veto the bill, as he probably would, he will, of course, give his reasons for doing so. This would bring the question prominently before the people in the coming congressional elections in the East as well as in the west, as the pressure caused by the scarcity of money is felt there as elsewhere. It is scarcely possible that the gold trust can disprove Lincoln's assertion that "you cannot fool all the people all the time," and that the people will sanction the scheme to have the Government continue borrowing instead of coining money.

A Fish Trap.

Yesterday S. W. Upson discovered that Indians or white men had constructed a fish trap in the river at the Reduction Works dam, so arranged that when the fish jumped over they were imprisoned in a box used as a bulkhead. Eight or ten dead trout were in the trap, having the appearance of not being dead more than a few hours.

Storm Waves and Thunder Storms—The Electrical Age.

Copyrighted 1894 by W. T. Poster.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 13.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from April 16th to the 20th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 21st, cross the western mountains by the close of the 22d, the Great Central valleys from the 23d to the 25th, and the Eastern States about the 26th.

This storm will be at its greatest force west of the Mississippi river, and will probably develop thunder storms or other electrical disturbances. Rains will not be general, but limited localities will have heavy downpours.

The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 21st, the Great Central valleys about the 23d, and the Eastern States about the 25th. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 24th, the Great Central valleys about the 26th, and the Eastern States about the 28th.

ELECTRICITY.

We are entering the electrical age, and the subject of electricity attracts more universal interest than any other. Very much is being learned about the effects of electricity, very little as to what electricity is. The books are full of explanations in reference to magnetism but the chapters are short on electricity. The latter is the cause, the former the effect.

The orthodox scientists will ridicule this idea, but as we can learn very little from their arbitrary code, the writer long ago rebelled against their authority. Their theories are utterly unreliable, and their teachings pernicious errors.

Throw a pebble into the lake, and numerous ring waves will spread out in all directions. The moving pebble is analogous to electricity, the waves to magnetism. One is the force, the other the effect. The books deal almost entirely with the effects and have very little to say about the cause. Long chapters are written about magnetism, very short ones about electricity. The latter exists without the former, is not dependent upon it, but without electricity there can be no magnetism.

The machinery of the universe is operated by the force of electrical currents, and we are rapidly approaching the time when electricity will be connected with most of the mechanical contrivances of man. Before we can attain reasonable progress, more attention must be given to the cause, the original impulse.

We know that magnetic iron ore, the natural magnet, has lines of force connected with it, but why? We dig from the earth what are called magnetic ores, and we know that when these ores are brought into contact with other non-magnetic ores, the latter are transformed into natural magnets, and lines of force are set up in them.

What is it that sets up these lines of force in the natural magnet? The earth currents, of course. When we place a natural magnet in contact with steel, the latter slowly becomes magnetized and will retain the lines of force after it is withdrawn from the natural magnet. The same result is secured when the steel bar is so placed as to permit a current of electricity to pass through the bar, and this is very strong evidence that in all cases currents of electricity constitute the cause of magnetism.

Throwing off all technicalities, dispensing with the hard language used by orthodox scientists, we have the plain, naked truth that magnetism is an effect of electricity, and magnets become such by electric currents circulating through them. When those currents cease the magnet loses its magnetism.

There are said to be two kinds of magnets, but the only real difference is in the length of time they hold the magnetic forces. Just as well say there are two kinds of life because one man lives a little longer than another. Soft iron magnets are artificial because they have no magnetism except when we cause a current of electricity to pass through them. Hard iron or steel magnets continue to conduct the electric currents through them after the battery has been withdrawn.

THE SUN IS A GREAT MAGNET

Through which the electric currents constantly circulate. The earth is also a magnet connected with the sun, moon and other planets by electric currents, and any electric disturbance felt on one is immediately transmitted to all the others. So far as the earth and sun are concerned, this has been so clearly proven that even the slow coached orthodox scientists are compelled to admit its truth.

The electric equator of the earth is where the dipping magnetic needle is horizontal or level, neither end dipping toward the earth. This dipping needle is not hung like the surveyor's compass. It will not swing around horizontally, but, being on a pivot in its middle, either end will dip toward the earth.

The earth's magnetic equator crosses the geographical equator northeast of Australia, near the Gilbert Islands, and again on the opposite side of the earth in the Gulf of Guinea, near the west coast of Africa. It reaches its most southern limit in Brazil, where it is twelve to fifteen degrees south, and its most northern limit in India, where it is as far north as the earth's geographical equator. All along that line the needle remains level.

Going farther north, the north end of the needle dips toward the earth, till at the magnetic north poles—one northwest of Hudson's Bay, twenty degrees south of the geographical north pole, and the other in Siberia, twenty-five degrees south of the north pole—where the dipping needle stands perpendicular, pointing toward the center of the earth. Going south the reverse is true.

The magnetic needle is certainly thus affected by permanent electric earth currents, and to these we must look for the immediate causes that affect magnetic needles, produce natural magnets, move the atmosphere, causing the wind to blow, cause evaporation, start and conduct the storm waves, produce rain, hail, sleet and snow, organize and protect mineral bodies, originate and sustain vegetable and animal life.

These silent electric currents are the immediate sources of all power of all life, of all action, but in turn they are effects of a more remote cause, and to find their origin we must go deeper into the subject.

We can never understand life and matter till we go to the fountain head of force, and the study of electricity will lead us in that direction.

SAM LONGABAUGH'S GENEROSITY.

He Establishes a Soup Kitchen at Empire.

Sam Longabaugh is entitled to the credit of having established the first free soup kitchen in Nevada. The Enterprise says: All of the hotels and restaurants in the town of Empire have been closed for several months. Mr. Longabaugh has a store in that town for the sale of general merchandise, and employs a cook. Last week a half score of drummers and one or two residents of the Comstock stopped at Empire and, as there were no accommodations for travelers elsewhere, Mr. Longabaugh entertained the visitors at his residence in such regal style that they concluded to remain with him until the next morning. "No visitors to this God-forsaken camp shall go away hungry if I know it," was Sam's parting salutation.

He Found Out.

It has been frequently asserted by the goldbug papers and orators, not only in this, but it seems in many other States, that the Populists were all Democrats before they joined the People's party. Down in Elk county, Kansas, a Republican orator arose in an "experience meeting" and said: "I see a number of Populists present. Now I would like to know what you were before you joined the Populists?" A lank old farmer in the back arose and said, "We were all damned fools." The speaker fainted and fell back in it.

The Jury Still Out.

The trial of John Kincart for grand larceny was before the District Court yesterday. Two venirees were called before a jury was secured. All the evidence was taken in during the afternoon, and the arguments of the counsel were heard last evening. The case went to the jury about half-past 8 o'clock.

The jury sat up until after 10 o'clock trying to agree on a verdict, but without success, and then went to bed.

The Commissioners of Nye county have appointed George E. Crowell County Treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Adam McLean.

An Italian who has a boom in the river just above the dam is doing a land office business in the drift wood line. It keeps four men busy all the day to throw out what is caught by the boom.

The Tidings says the band of horses which N. H. A. Mason has been wintering in Mason Valley will be started for eastern Nevada this week, excepting two carloads, which will be shipped below.

They have an ordinance at Salem, Oregon, which provides for the posting of a person's name as a common drunkard and making it an offense for anyone to furnish him with liquor thereafter.

The Mason Valley Tidings says: Dr. B. A. Leak, the Reno veterinary surgeon, has quarters at the Farmers' Hotel. He has been in constant demand since his arrival, and is doing a most satisfactory business.

N. A. Hummell of the Wadsworth Dispatch came down to attend the "Spider and Fly" night before last and returned home yesterday morning. He requested his friends not to let his wife know anything about it.

Fishermen are catching a good many trout in the Truckee, some of which weigh five or six pounds. Minnows are used for bait. The stream is generally swollen and the waters somewhat muddy late in the afternoon and the fish do not bite so well as earlier in the day.

While Alfred Whipple, cashier of the Crawford Banking Company at Crawford, Nebraska, was alone in the bank, a stranger entered and presenting a six-shooter demanded money. The robber compelled Whipple to enter the vault and locked him in, and then made his escape with $2,500, which Whipple had on the counter.

An adjourned meeting of those who are taking an interest in the project to build a woolen mill will be held at the Bank of Nevada this evening. If the mill is built it will give employment to a hundred or more persons and be of great benefit to the town. Every wool-grower should take an interest in the matter as it would give them a home market for their product.

The Directors of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, who were elected last Tuesday, met yesterday and elected the following officers: President, I. L. Requa; Vice President, C. P. Huntington; Second President and Treasurer, W. H. Mills; Third Vice President, Isaac E. Garter; Secretary and Auditor, W. M. Thompson. These officers were elected without opposition.
